

RADAR

Careers

ABOUT RADAR

The Radar team is small, currently less than 15 people, which means early employees will have a meaningful impact on our product and business strategy. Our team is just getting started and we have a list of products to bring to market.

Our first product, Radar Relay, is defining a new category of decentralized token exchange called Relayers. As one of the earliest live Ethereum decentralized applications (dapps) on the market we feel a sense of responsibility to our users and to the blockchain ecosystem to set the precedent for user experience, functionality, and compliance.

We are looking for individuals who share this level of accountability and have a vision to improve blockchain accessibility. This is an exciting space to work in with the opportunity to help define user habits of a new digital ecosystem. While prior knowledge is not required, the barrier to blockchain is fairly high and a commitment to researching the technology and industry is a must.

GRAPHIC DESIGNER

RESPONSIBILITIES:

As a Graphic Designer you will work with marketing and creative to produce collateral across a wide range of media. You have a great sense of typography, a passion for layout and can move quickly when a deadline gets pushed up. Systems thinking is a must. The ideal candidate can help build brand guidelines, establishing usage & style conventions across social media, blogs, websites and print materials. Other tasks will include visualizing complex concepts through infographics and helping dictate digital tools.

REQUIRES EXPERIENCE IN:

- Sketch
- Adobe CC Suite
- Concepting
- Information design
- Excellent communication

NICE TO HAVE:

- Illustration Chops
- Motion Design
- Web Design Experience